

A Citizen's Guide to Environmental Information in New York State

ELIOT SPITZER
Attorney General
April, 2004

STATE OF NEW YORK
OFFICE OF THE ATTORNEY GENERAL
THE CAPITOL
ALBANY, NEW YORK 12224

ELIOT SPITZER
Attorney General

(518) 474-7330

Dear Friend:

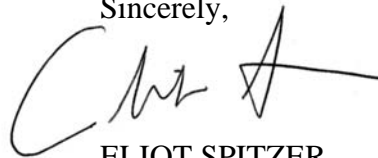

Throughout New York there are beautiful rivers, streams, wetlands, mountains, forests, open space and wildlife. We feel deeply about these areas and want to protect them. Protecting the environment is also linked to protecting our health and the health of our children, neighbors and friends.

Unfortunately, there are numerous threats to our environment and to people's health. Whether it's air pollution from factories, trucks, power plants or other facilities; water pollution from industrial or sewage plants or street runoff; or toxic contamination of drinking water supplies - - the public is increasingly concerned about the connections between pollution and their family's health.

Because New Yorkers are keenly interested in a range of environmental issues, my office has prepared this listing of national, statewide and local government and non-governmental offices and organizations that can provide relevant information and resources. I hope you will find this guide helpful when questions arise regarding the environment and your family's health and will assist you in being an informed citizen in your local community.

If you have questions, feel free to contact the Environmental Protection Bureau in the Attorney General's Office at (800) 771-7755 or (518) 474-7330. Or you can fax your request to (518) 402-2472. Environmental reports and testimony can also be found on the Attorney General's website at: www.oag.state.ny.us

Sincerely,

ELIOT SPITZER
